Regular Wollies, Matakoho/Limestone Island

(Also fits teams) The 'Wednesday Wollies' are the happy band of volunteers that come over once a month and get stuck in to all sorts of jobs on the island. There is a huge variety of different work; for example recently the wollies have been tree releasing, artificial seabird burrow building and doing weed control (hand pulling, cutting, spraying). We also have those who are handy with hammers doing lots of little fix-it jobs.

Volunteer Wednesdays run the first Wednesday of each month (unless otherwise advised), with pick up from the Onerahi jetty at 9am, returning at about 2pm. You can come as often or as infrequently as you want. Though you work at your own pace, a certain amount of fitness is needed for getting around the island.
